FERNETIVANIA.

Another morement has been made by Pennsylvanians to secure the existing Cabinet varieties of the first state. They don't, in this instance, name a candidate, but respectfully ask that before the October election the State may be saved to the Republican party by the selection of some prominent Pennsylvanian for the position of Secretary of War. One of the resolutions of a public meeting was laid before the President to-day, in which they ask him as loyal Pennsylvanians to recognize the Keystone State by calling to his Cabinet one of her representative citissens; one in whom he can condide as being wise in council and patriotic in purpose; one who will contribute dignity and efficiency to his administration; one, in flow, wa ow I add in making the administration what a conditing people feel assured, it will be, a success. This is the exact language of the resolution. Judging from the outside situation there is no prospect that the President will make an appointment of Secretary of Warst present, and those most in his conditione believe that none will be made till

He expects to supply five or six thousand labories in March or April and to add indefinitely to the number if employers and employees shall be satisfied. The whole of his contracts at the present time are for not less than ten thousand. He will make a specie at our Southern Commercial Convention to be held in this city, and if any of our people want Chinese labor, male or female, no doubt they can then engage it. Perhaps however we had better wait and see the result in the South, where additional work is much more needed than it is in Kentucky. Our laborers, black and white, will probably do pretty well for the present.

ROUND-ABOUT.

L. On Du That Mr. Bigelow, of the New York Times, a shout to resign the editorship of that able saper and that Mr. Frederick Hudson, a jour-sainst of great ability, has been approached apon the subject of succeeding him; hat a son of the late H. J. Raymond, who is said to lunerit much of the literary talent and energy of his lamented athers, is to have a place on the Times. It is not impossible that he may work his way to the place held and filled with so much ability by bigather. If Mr. Bigelow will revive the exceedingly interesting columns of "Minor Topics" in the Times, which he so summarily applicased, and will put young Raymond on it, there will be then a good field opened for his talents. The feature in question was certainly one of the best in the Times.

This is one of the phases of the petiticoal suffrage question now being agitated. Once armed with the ballot, the duty of sitting on girds will be "imposed upon" the laddles. Now it is a notorious fact that men are far more tenient and merciful to female criminals than women are toward each ofter outside of the ourt-room. If they will not spare a weak or frail one now, what will they do when clothed with the rights of jurors? Imagine a young and pretty woman, who has "stooped to folly," brought before a jury in which several irraselble and elderly spinsters hold the balance of power, is it difficult to say what the readict would be? Would the prisoner's beauty or tears or repentance touch them? Verily, no. If the young thing happened to be the plaintiff in a suit for breach of promises against a headcome, rich young awayil, would she win her suit? Truly, no. Could the ladies on the jury find it in their bearts to give a verdet against "such a ulce young man;"

District Albert T. Simmons, a skillful physician, went from this country in 1856 to Caba, where he practiced his profession very successfully until the present revolution broke out in the Island, when, having gone from Purto Frincipe to Santiago de Cuba on professional business, he was arrested and thrown into prison by the Spaniards on a charge of disloyalty. Having been kept in prison for six months, he was released, and has now returned to the United States: He is now in New York, and will institute an international smit against the Spanish Government for $200,600 damages. It is said that the Spanish gumboats now being built in American waters will be attached to await the trial of the case. Dr. Simmons is a native of Ontario county, New York, and when a young man went to Mississippi, where he became editor and proprietor of the Vicksburg Sentinel, and was afterward elected to the State Sonate.

Rafly yesterday morning, as the sable, industrious porter, who is entrusted with the daily duty of sweeping out and putting to rights the various offices in Hamilton Bullding, or Sixth and Main streets, was going his usual routeds, he came to the office conspied by Ferrin, Nicholson, that carried him some distance tackward, and involuntarity threw the broom in his hands to the position of "charge," the boy stood as if perrified.

But a moment before that darky had been happy. Under the lively equiturisation characteristic of his race, the spacious building was yet echoing with his merry whisids, a loud adoption from the last circus tune, or percaps the latest minared initiation, one foot persisting occasionally in meaning the time by describing an imaginary circus circum the other, as thoughts of the modern "essence of "el' varginny" foated through his mind. While this engaged his eyes, rolling a suitable accompaniment to every motion, had chared to alight upon an object that rapidly changed a naturally dark complexion successivity to a duty pale, a creamy his way, and child the work of his noder fellicity and added the last way of the modern way of his noder fellicity and added the last way of the modern way of the modern last mass and the last way of the modern last made the many many of the modern last made the last way of the last
